INTRODUCTION

This Index is designed to offer improved access to the records of the Mackenzie Valley Pipeline Inquiry, as they appear on microfilm.

This material has been filmed with the permission of the Inquiry, as well as the official reporter, Allwest Reporting Services, to whom we are grateful for their assistance. We also acknowledge with thanks the assistance of Mrs Shirley Callard and the staff of the Ottawa office of the Inquiry in obtaining originals for filming.

Contents of the Microfilm

The microfilm edition of the Inquiry's briefs (exhibits) and transcripts is issued periodically during the Inquiry's proceedings, at intervals of approximately 2000 pages, which is the capacity of a reel of microfilm.

The microfilm contains all verbatim transcripts of the Inquiry's public hearings, and most of the textual exhibits (briefs, submissions) tabled by the participants with two exceptions. The main submission or application of Canadian Arctic Gas Limited does not appear on film, due first to its length (over 10,000 pages of text) and many volumes of oversized maps (which would not reproduce accurately on film), and second to the fact that the submission was widely distributed by the firm at the time of publication. However, the submission of the second applicant, Foothills Pipe Lines Limited, is included on reel E2 (again without the several volumes of maps and charts, however, which would not reproduce accurately). In both cases, missing items may be traced by inquiring through the offices of either the Inquiry or the applicants, who will be pleased to direct users to the nearest repository of the printed documents, or to supply copies of desired material. See the list of addresses in this index for office locations.

Certain exhibits have also been omitted from the film. These are primarily those of a technical nature. The microfilm contains all exhibits of which copies are held in the Inquiry's Ottawa office public reading room; that is, all those exhibits which are deemed by the Inquiry staff to be of general public interest.

Finding Aids Available

To locate information on the microfilm, there are a number of aids that may be used, as follows:

1. Subject Access to the contents of the transcripts is provided by a subject index prepared by the staff of the Inquiry; this appears at the beginning of Reel E1. It is necessary to consult the topic index that precedes this to check for synonymns before entering the index proper.
2. Access by Corporate and Individual Name to the transcripts and briefs is provided by this index.
3. Access by Date and Name to the contents of each of the hearings may be had by consulting the table of contents that appears at the beginning of each reel of film for the dates covered by that reel.
4. Access by Date and Name to the exhibits tabled at both the public and community hearings is provided by the table of contents that appears before each group of exhibits on Reel E1.

Some Highlights

For a synopsis of the Inquiry's terms of reference, see the Order in Council of the Government of Canada which established the Inquiry: Exhibit 1/Reel E1.

A good overview of the Inquiry's procedures and intentions is provided by the Chairman, Mr Justice Thomas Berger, at the beginning of the preliminary hearings (p.1- /Reel T1) and of the formal hearings (p.760- /Reel T1).

At the first session of the formal hearings on March 3, 1975 (p.766- /Reel T1) each of the main participants presents an opening statement of position. The major participants in the Inquiry are also reviewed by the Chairman on p.694-696/Reel T1).

A Brief Description of the Inquiry

Formed by order in council of the Canadian government, the Inquiry began hearings in April 1974 into the application of a consortium of oil companies known as Canadian Arctic Gas Limited (and its subsidiary Canadian Arctic Gas Study Ltd) for a right of way through the Northwest Territories and Alberta to construct a pipeline for the transportation of natural gas from the Arctic to southern markets.

The issues surrounding the application are particularly complex, involving not only the technical questions of the feasibility and economy of this route as opposed to others, but also the environmental, biological and social impact of such a line on the North, the land rights of the native peoples, the oil and gas export policies of Canada, and the question of foreign ownership of Canadian resources.

The latter question has come into sharper focus since the opening of the Inquiry, with the entry of Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd--a Canadian firm which appears as an adversary of Canadian Arctic Gas Limited, contesting both the route proposed by the consortium as well as the wisdom of exporting natural gas in the next decades.

The Inquiry's hearings have been divided into four phases:

1. Engineering and construction aspects of each application.
2. The impact of the pipeline on the physical environment of the North.
3. The impact of the pipeline on the biological environment of the North.
4. The impact of the pipeline on the human environment, during which social and economic factors will be considered.

Reels T1-T5 and E1-E2 cover only the first phase of the Inquiry.

ERRATA AND NOTES

1. Part 2 of the Foothills Pipe Lines Application had not been published at the time of filming; thus this is not included on Reel E2. This missing section will be filmed and distributed to subscribers as soon as it becomes available.
2. An error in pagination of the transcripts exists in Volume 55. Pages marked 7396-7473 should be 7589-7666.

1. You will notice that the readability of some of the Transcripts at Community Hearing is less than desirable. This is due to the poor quality originals from which they were filmed. Any pages which are completely illegible will be re-obtained from the Inquiry, filmed and forwarded at a later date.

INTRODUCTION

This Index is designed to offer improved access to the records of the Mackenzie Valley Pipeline Inquiry, as they appear on microfilm.

This material has been filmed with the permission of the Inquiry, as well as the official reporter, Allwest Reporting Services, to whom we are grateful for their assistance. We also acknowledge with thanks the assistance of Ms. Shirley Callard, Rosemary Wallbank, Daphne Greenwood and Diana Crosbie, as well as the staff of the Ottawa office of the Inquiry in obtaining originals for filming, and offering general guidance in the project.

Contents of the Microfilm

This microfilm edition contains all verbatim transcripts of the Inquiry's public hearings, and most of the textual exhibits (briefs, submissions) tabled by the participants with two primary exceptions.

The main submission or application of Canadian Arctic Gas Limited does not appear on film, due first to its length (over 10,000 pages of text) and many volumes of oversized maps (which would not reproduce accurately on film), and second to the fact that the submission was widely distributed by the firm at the time of publication. However, the submission of the second applicant, Foothills Pipe Lines Limited, is included on reel E2 (again without the several volumes of maps and charts, however, which would not reproduce accurately). In both cases, missing items may be traced by inquiring through the offices of either the Inquiry or the applicants, who will be pleased to direct users to the nearest repository of the printed documents, or to supply copies of desired material. See the list of addresses in this index for office locations.

Certain exhibits have also been omitted from the film. These are primarily those of a technical nature. The microfilm contains all exhibits of which copies are held in the Inquiry's Ottawa office public reading room; that is, all those exhibits which are deemed by the Inquiry staff to be of general public interest.

Finding Aids Available

To locate information on the microfilm, there are a number of aids that may be used, as follows:

1. Subject Access to the contents of the transcripts is provided by a subject index prepared by the staff of the Inquiry; three installments of this appear on the film, on Reels E1, E3 and E7. These were filmed at various stages of the Inquiry, and so each new one supercedes the last; the final installment on Reel E7 should be the only one necessary to use. One should consult the topic index to check for synonyms before entering the subject index proper.
2. Access by Organization and Individual Name to the transcripts and briefs is provided by this index.
3. Access by Date and Name to the contents of each of the hearings may be had by consulting the table of contents that appears at the beginning of each reel of film for the dates covered by that reel.
4. Access by Date and Name to the exhibits tabled at both the public and community hearings is provided by the table of contents that appears before each group of exhibits on the microfilm.
5. Summaries of the proceedings cross-referenced to the transcripts are also available in six volumes (see bibliographic information on page).

A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE INQUIRY
(EXCERPTED FROM VOLUME ONE OF THE REPORT)

THE HEARINGS

The Mackenzie Valley Pipeline Inquiry was established on March 21, 1974 by Order-in-Council P.C. 1974-641 (as attached). The Expanded Guidelines for Northern Pipelines, which were tabled in the House of Commons on June 28, 1972, form part of the terms of reference of the Inquiry.

Preliminary hearings were held in April and May 1974 (at Yellowknife, Inuvik, Whitehorse and Ottawa) and in September 1974 (at Yellowknife) to hear submissions from all interested parties on the scope and procedures of the inquiry. On the basis of these hearings, preliminary rulings were issued on July 12, 1974 and October 29, 1974. On March 3, 1975 a week of overview hearings began in Yellowknife consisting of the opening statements of each participant and presentations by experts, without cross-examination, on general subjects of importance to the Inquiry.

The formal hearings began on March 11, 1975 with witnesses called by each participant presenting evidence that was subject to cross-examination. The evidence was divided into the following general areas: engineering and construction of the proposed pipeline, the impact of a pipeline and Mackenzie corridor development on the physical environment, the living environment and the human environment (social and economic).

In addition to the formal hearings, the Inquiry travelled to all of the 35 communities in the Mackenzie Valley region, the Delta and Beaufort Sea region and the Northern Yukon to hear evidence from the residents in their own languages, in their home communities. The first such hearing was held in Aklavik in early April 1975 and the last in Detah in August 1976.

Many written submissions and requests to be heard were received by the Inquiry from people and organizations in Southern Canada; consequently, in May and June 1976, hearings were held in ten cities from Vancouver to Halifax.

The hearings ended on November 19, 1976 in Yellowknife following a week of final argument during which the participants advanced their views on the terms and conditions for a pipeline and energy corridor across the Northern Yukon and along the Mackenzie Valley.

The report of the Mackenzie Valley Pipeline Inquiry, Volume I, prepared by Mr. Justice Thomas R. Berger, was tabled in the House of Commons, Ottawa, on Monday May 9, 1977 at 3 p.m.

Volume One deals with the broad social, economic and environmental impacts that a gas pipeline and an energy corridor would have in the Mackenzie Valley and the Western Arctic. In it certain basic recommendations are made. Volume Two will set out the terms and conditions that should be imposed if a pipeline is build.

DOCUMENTS AND RECORDS

A full record of the evidence presented verbally to the Inquiry is contained in the Inquiry transcripts. In addition, many reports, maps, pictures, and a few miscellaneous objects have been officially designated as Inquiry exhibits.

Perhaps the most important of all are the verbatim transcripts of the proceedings of both the formal and community hearings. The formal hearings have yielded over 906 exhibits and 32,353 pages of testimony bound in 204 volumes. The community hearings have been transcribed in 77 volumes with a total of 8,438 pages and 662 exhibits. The exhibits include such documents as the application and supporting materials submitted by Arctic Gas and Foothills (which run into many volumes), the Land Use and Occupancy maps prepared by the Indian Brotherhood of the Northwest Territories and by the Committee for Original Peoples Entitlement#Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, the 1974 report of the federal government's Pipeline Application Assessment Group, publications of the Environment Protection Board, and a number of the reports prepared for the Environmental-Social Program, Northern Pipelines and the Beaufort Sea Project.

Also included in the Inquiry documents are the final submissions of all the Inquiry participants, containing their recommendations supporting the terms and conditions that they propose should apply to the pipeline project. The Commission Counsel Submission is over 800 pages long, and has generated replies from several of the participants and from the Government of the Northwest Territories.

NOTES

1. Part 2 of the Foothills Pipe Lines Application has not been issued as of June 1977.
2. A number of the exhibits filmed may be difficult to read; the reason for this is that originals used were of poor quality in many cases -- particularly some of the briefs presented to Community Hearings. Also, in other cases, the only available original for filming was a photocopy, which led to quality problems on the microfilm. It was judged desirable to include these marginal items, however, since they would not otherwise be available.
